- 1) 5:00 p.m. (30 min) - Property Tax Compression Briefing
The topic of property tax compression has been discussed in many different forums around the region and the state, including the local media, in recent months. Tonight's discussion will focus on what compression is, how it is caused, what effect it has on Tualatin's property tax revenue and how that affects our future planning.
- 2) 5:30 p.m. (30 min) - Economic Development Program Discussion
The City of Tualatin has had an Economic Development Action Plan since 1984, closely tied with the urban renewal program in Tualatin; it has been updated several times since then as our local economy and dynamics have changed and grown. With the current urban renewal situation, different economic conditions and with new faces part of the city team, we have an opportunity to take a fresh look at economic development in Tualatin. Tonight's discussion is a starting point as it will look at where we've been, accomplishments, what the current data shows and opportunities we have identified based on that data.
- 3) 6:00 p.m. (15 min) – TriMet Budget & Service Reductions
TriMet is facing a $17 million shortfall in the coming budget year. They have scheduled several open houses to hear from folks about what is important. The next open house is scheduled for February 15, 4:30-6:30p in Portland (1120 SW 5th Ave., Room C). Two lines that serve Tualatin may be in jeopardy due to low ridership (line 36 and line 38). Attached are the service line maps for those two lines, as well as a map that shows all of the TriMet service to Tualatin.
- 4) 6:15 p.m. (30 min) – Climate Smart Communities Briefing
As a follow-up to the presentation you received on January 9th from staff, Metro Councilors Carl Hosticka and Carlotta Collette and Kim Ellis will share the findings from the first phase of the Climate Smart Communities Scenarios Project. They will share information about what has been learned and seek input on how to work together in Phase II to support the aspirations of Tualatin. Attached is a packet of information from Metro.
